            development and adaptation of technology. This interest encourages me to continuously learn how new technologies work and understand their impact on everyday life and the industrial world.

            Currently, I am exploring various innovations in Web3, blockchain, artificial intelligence (AI), and financial technology (fintech). I am interested in understanding how these technologies can be used to build systems that are secure, efficient, transparent, and accessible to society.
